CAPE CANAVERAL, Fla. (UPI) — Bad weather today forced a postponement of at least 48 hours in America's first attempt to put a man in space.

The decision to "scrub" the shot, originally scheduled for 8 a. m. (EST), came at 8:35 a. m. (EDT), after "prime astronaut" Alan B. Shepard Jr. had suited up for his historic venture.

Squally weather which set in Monday, drenched the cape from time to time in today's early hours, but forecasters had hoped it would clear enough for a launching by noon.

By 8 a. m., however, Project Mercury weather men said the overcast "was not clearing out" and conditions looked hopeless for today.

Chaperones for the trip are as follows: Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Wilson, Otis Hatcher, Mrs. B. Smith, Mrs. John Cavett, Mrs. Stealy. They all have children in the band.

After the parade the band will travel to Bowling Green where they will spend the night at the Laurel Hotel. The band plans to arrive back in Murray by 5:00 p. m. May 3rd.

Murder Plot Was Born In Chattanooga

By GARY P. GATES, United Press International

DETROIT (UPI) — Defense attorneys in the murder-conspiracy trial of Mrs. Nelle Lassiter and her lover, Gordon Watson, today attacked the credibility of a 23-year-old waitress who linked Mrs. Lassiter for the first time to the murder plot against her husband.

The waitress, Mrs. Shirley Kendrick, testified Monday that she overheard her former "boyfriend," Roy Hicks, tell Richard Jones in a Chattanooga, Tenn., tavern that "we can pick up a lot of money from his (Lassiter's) wife, Nelle, if we bump him off."

Hicks, Jones and a third man are serving life terms for the actual slaying of Parvin Lassiter in 1959, but the state charges Mrs. Lassiter and Watson with plotting the crime.

Joseph W. Louisell, Mrs. Lassiter's lawyer, and Albert Summer, counsel for Watson, noted that Mrs. Kendrick at one time had an intimate relationship with Hicks, and had spent a night with him in a hotel.

They asked if this might in any way have influenced her testimony.

Louisell also asked if law enforcement officials had told her she might help Hicks by implicating Mrs. Lassiter and Watson in the slaying.

She replied, "No sir," to both questions.

Assistant Prosecutor George D. Kent also brought out that Mrs. Kendrick had once spent a night in a hotel with Watson at Chickamauga, Ga., but she said she had done this only at Hicks' request to show Watson "a good time."

Summer then asked if it were true that she had stayed in the hotel with Watson because Hicks was drinking heavily.

She denied this.

Mrs. Kendrick said that Hicks and Jones were "drinking heavily" when the conversation took place and so she did not regard the plot as a serious one.

She admitted, upon cross-examination by Mrs. Lassiter's defense counsel Joseph W. Louisell, that Hicks "often talked about robbing and killing people when he was drunk" but that he had always been "in jest."

She said she heard Hicks say that Mrs. Lassiter "was offering a large amount of money for the slaying, but that 'he wanted to find a third man to do the actual shooting.' It was then, she said, that Jones suggested getting Nash to pull the trigger.

Defense lawyers immediately attacked the reliability of Mrs. Kendrick as a witness, noting that she was having a love affair with Hicks when he was married to another woman.

Louisell also spent considerable time going over Mrs. Kendrick's statement, given to Tennessee authorities a year ago, in an effort to point out inconsistencies, particularly regarding dates.

Before Mrs. Kendrick took the stand, Wayne County Circuit Court Judge Joseph G. Rashid warned the jury that her evidence must be received "conditionally" inasmuch as it was based on hearsay. He added that such evidence could not be used against the defendants unless it was supported by further testimony.

Bond Ordinance Passed Monday

A special meeting of the Murray City Council was held last night at 7:30 in the city hall.

The purpose of the meeting was to consider a bond ordinance in relation to the proposed west side elementary school and to consider the bid of Dunn Brothers of Columbia, Tennessee for construction of the school.

City Attorney Wells Overbey read the ordinance which would control the selling of the bonds amounting to $165,000, and the disposal of the funds received from the bonds.

The council approved this ordinance on its first reading. Present at the meeting to hear the ordinance were Bill Hardy and Harold Sullivan of Stein Bros. and Boyce, fiscal agent for the project.

Present at the meeting also were members of the City School Board, Dick Sykes, chairman, Maurice Ryan, members, and W. Z. Carter, Superintendent of City Schools.

The Dunn Brothers contract for the construction of the school was studied by the city officials for some time. Mayor Holmes Ellis reported to the council that on advice from the city attorney the contract should not be approved since the contract was drawn up between the City School Board and the contractor, rather than the City of Murray and the contractor.

According to law the school board is not empowered to make the contract nor sell the bonds.

The city of Murray must deal with both the bond company and the contractor. A lease rental arrangement was suggested.

Fire Turns Gay Affair Into Flaming Horror; 19 Are Dead

BOLTON, England (UPI) — Fire raced through a fourth-story social club Monday night turning a gay dance into a flaming horror.

Police said at least 19 persons died—8 of them young girls—and 4 others were seriously injured. Several firemen were hurt.

"The street looked like a battlefield," said one of the shaken rescue workers, Lee Owens. "There were bodies all over the place."

Most of the victims were in their teens or early twenties.

A few minutes before midnight they had been drinking and dancing to jazz music in the "Top Story Club," a dance hall on the fourth floor of a building that houses a warehouse and shops.

Witness Tells Story

Pedro Gonzales, 23, was found wandering dazedly down the street sobbing. When he had been calmed down he told the story.

"Everyone was having a good time," he said. "The pianist had just finished a tune when I heard him shout through the applause."

"I stroiled over to the door, not knowing anything was happening, and I smelled smoke. In a few seconds, that happy room was hell."

"I shouted as loud as I could for everyone to get out. They were panicking and screaming. The flames suddenly leaped up the stairs at a terrific pace. I half fell, half ran through them and found myself outside."

"There was nothing but flames above. Then the windows started breaking and people began to fall down toward me."

Flames Block Stairs

When the stairs blocked by flames, many of those trapped inside hurried themselves through the windows. It was an 80-foot plunge.

Edmund Lomax said he and others shouted up that the firemen were on their way with ladders "but they went on jumping. It was sickening hearing them hit the ground."

Some of the victims thudded into the cobblestones of Crown Street. Others leaped into the River Croal at the back of the building. Four of these were rescued seriously injured but others drowned.

It took firemen three hours to get the blaze under control.

Bolton Chief Constable Edward Barker said some bodies were found behind doors and the club's bar.

The blaze was believed to have started on the ground floor of the building but its cause was not determined immediately.

Cincinnati's Gene Freese And Minnesota's Billy Gardner Two Examples of Mediocre Player's Value Game After Game

By NORMAN MILLER

United Press International
Gene Freese, of the Cincinnati Reds, and Billy Gardner of the Minnesota Twins never batted 300 or made an All-Star team, but for several seasons now they've managed to hold major league jobs through hustle and handiness.

Never was this more evident than in the roles they played Monday in helping their clubs win the only two games played in the majors.

Freese hustled home from second base on a hit to deep shortstop with the winning run in the Reds' 3-2 victory over the Philadelphia Phillies. And Gardner hit a two-out ninth-inning double that chased home Jim Lemon with the run that enabled Minnesota to edge the Chicago White Sox, 6-3.

The 27-year-old Freese, now playing with his fifth major league club, is hitting only .242, but he stays in the lineup primarily because of his speed and long-ball threat.

Wine Six-Hitter
It was Freese's fleetness that helped lefty Jim O'Toole win a six-hitter against Robin Roberts and the Phils Monday night. With the score tied at 2-2, Freese led off the fourth by reaching first on a wild throw by shortstop Ruben Amaro of the Phils. He moved to second on Chico Cardenas' single.

Don Blasingame then hit a ball into the hole to Amaro's right. The Phils' shortstop made a diving stop but couldn't make a play on Blasingame. Freese, flying at full speed, raced all the way home from second and beat Amaro's throw to the plate.

O'Toole pitched five shutout innings after that to clinch his second victory against as many defeats. He struck out nine batters and walked only two. Gordon Coleman hit a Cincinnati homer in the second inning.

For Roberts, this was the fourth defeat without a victory. Bobby Del Greco's hits helped the Phils score both their runs.

Twins Held Third
At St. Paul-Minneapolis, a small afternoon crowd of 5,777 watched the Twins beat the White Sox and remain in third place, a game behind the American League lead.

Scrappy, 33-year-old Gardner, now in his eighth major league season, made three of the Twins' 14 hits against the White Sox. Lemon, who scored the winning run had reached base with his fourth hit of the afternoon. Turk Lown was the Chicago loser in relief.

The White Sox' first three runs resulted from solo homers by Jim Landis, Al Smith and Camillo Carrion off Minnesota starter Chuck Stobbs.

Minnesota stayed in the game on the strength of Harmon Killebrew's two-run homer in the first; a pair of runs in the fifth on doubles by Lennie Green and Bob Allison followed by Gardner's single; and a game-tying tally in the sixth resulting from Green's double.

Ray Moore, who pitched only the ninth inning, received credit for his second win of the year.

BULLETIN:

Super Shell with 9 ingredients now contains 1 quick-start component; 1 fast warm-up ingredient; 1 mileage booster; 1 anti-knock mix; 2 octane boosters; 1 gum preventive; 1 anti-icer and new improved TCP—to give your car top performance

Read the facts about today's Super Shell. You'll learn why each of its nine ingredients is essential if you want top performance from today's engines.

Engines today are much more finicky than they were even a decade ago. That's why your car needs all of the ingredients in today's Super Shell.

Test drivers, noted for conservative statements, call many recent engines "critical." In fact, some say that you may not know how good your car's engine really is, simply because it is running below peak efficiency. Today's Super Shell is designed to help correct this state of affairs.

Read on to learn exactly how Super Shell helps every car deliver its top performance.

1. The quick-start component in Super Shell is so volatile it's kept underground.

The Butane in Super Shell is like the priming charge in a shotgun shell. Its quick-firing volatility is what gets you started fast on cold days. Butane, in fact, vaporizes so easily that it is kept under pressure—22 million gallons of it—400 feet underground!

Because of Butane, your car can start in a hurry. You save your battery. You don't waste gasoline by pumping raw fuel through your engine before it catches.

2. The fast warm-up ingredient in Super Shell acts like kindling for a fire.

The fast warm-up you get with Super Shell comes from its Pentane mix. Pentanes are "kindling" molecules—split from heavier hydrocarbons.

They release their energy quickly, giving you top cold-weather performance in a hurry.

3. The mileage booster in Super Shell owes its energy to carloads of platinum catalyst.

Shell uses eight million dollars' worth of platinum catalyst to produce Platformate, the extra-energy, extra-mileage ingredient in today's Super Shell.

The platinum catalyst, which gives the Platformate its name, helps re-form petroleum into super-energy components—such as benzene, xylene, toluene.

These three alone release 11 per cent more energy per gallon than the best 100-octane aviation gasoline.

The super-energy of Platformate is teamed with the eight other ingredients in Super Shell, where it gives you that welcome extra mileage.

4. The anti-knock mix in Super Shell is so effective that one teaspoonful treats a gallon.

To detect the slightest trace of knock, Shell scientists depend on an astonishing set of instruments. This registers the faintest knocks on a delicate picture tube, and then photographs it with a high-speed camera.

Such data help Shell research men to prescribe an anti-knock mix so effective that one teaspoonful per gallon of gasoline can boost the octane rating 5 full points.

5. & 6. Both octane boosters in Super Shell have a story. One is linked with Jimmy Doolittle. The other comes from heating petroleum to 900 degrees.

Jimmy Doolittle helped pioneer the first of these high-octane in-redients for Shell aviation fuel. It is called Alkylate.

Alkylate—which took the dream of 100-octane gasoline out of the lab and put it into the sky—is now in Super Shell. It controls knocking in hot engines at high speeds far better than anything else yet available.

The second octane-boosting ingredient is "cat-cracked" gasoline for power with a purr. This is petroleum that has actually been cracked under 900-degree heat and catalytic action.

The result is a super-octane ingredient that asserts its authority the moment you put your foot down.

7. The anti-gum ingredient in Super Shell uses a chemical "policeman" to guard against gum-fouled carburetors.

Even the purest gasoline can form gum when stored. This gum clogs carburetors and fouls automatic chokes. But, with Super Shell, you needn't worry. A special gum preventive does the trick.

It acts like a policeman controlling a mob. Regulates unstable elements to help keep them from clotting. Hence no gum problem.

8. The anti-icer in Super Shell takes care of the most mysterious stalls of all.

Super Shell's formula is adjusted as often as eight times a year to beat the weather. For example, whenever the temperature is likely to drop below forty-five degrees, an anti-icer is added.

Why add anti-icer at forty-five degrees? Because, even at that temperature, frost can form in your carburetor just as it does in your refrigerator. It can choke your engine dead.

Super Shell's anti-icer tackles the problem by discouraging ice from sticking to metal parts. Result: you can forget about carburetor icing problems.

9. TCP in Super Shell increases power, mileage and plug life.

In 1953, Shell first introduced TCP—a revolutionary additive that neutralized certain harmful effects of combustion deposits.

Today, Shell has developed a new improved TCP, cresyl-diphenyl-phosphate.

TCP can give your car as much as 15 per cent more power and up to 17 extra miles per tankful. It can also make spark plugs last up to twice as long.

Ponder these statistics. They can have a refreshing effect on your car bills.

Test Super Shell for yourself

Try today's Super Shell. You'll soon feel and hear a difference in the way your engine runs. That difference is top performance.

Miss Donna Case Honored At Party On 7th Birthday

Miss Donna Case was honored with a party on her seventh birthday on Saturday, April 22, by her mother, Mrs. Ralph Case.

Games were played with prizes going to Neva Clark, Kenny Horn, Sonja Biggestaff, and Susie Woodbridge. The honoree opened her gifts after which refreshments of birthday cake, ice cream, and drinks were served.

Those present were Karen Scott, Laura Todd, Karen Alexander, Susan McCann, Jane Arant, Lynn Reagan, Kenny Horn, Gail Kemp, Sue Ann George, Jimmy Dodson, Neva Clark, Steve Davenport, Susie Woodbridge, Gregg Wright, Ann Davenport, and Donna Case. Mrs. Irvin Arant assisted Mrs. Case in serving.

HORRORS!—Nancy Fleming, University of Texas coed, has that atomic look in Austin in a demonstration of something called the VanDraff electric generator. It produces 600,000 volts. But next to no amperage, or Nancy would be flaming as well as Fleming.

COULDN'T PASS PHYSICAL FOR STATE PRISON—Gary Louise Johnson, 37, smiles a bit sheepishly on being returned to St. Clairsville, O., jail after being refused admittance to Ohio State Prison in Columbus on a 1-15 burglary rap. When it came time to strip down for the prison physical, "he" finally admitted to being a "she," and having posed as a man since the age of 14. The Oklahoma City, Okla., native was to be resubmitted to the women's prison.

Bond . . .

ment is drawn up between the city and the school board and when the bonds are finally retired under this arrangement, the property is then deeded over to the school board.

The school board would receive funds from a 2½¢ school tax which has been in effect for some years and from the state under the minimum foundation program to pay the "rent" to the city. Actually the city school board pays off the indebtedness, but does not hold title to the property until the bonds are completely retired.

The school board was advised to have a new contract drawn between the city and the contractor, have it signed by the proper parties, then re-submit it to the council for action.

Dunn Brothers was the low bidder on the project with $124,850 for the eight classroom structure. The building will include a combination cafeteria and assembly room.

City Attorney Wells Overbey again stressed last night that he felt that everything would work out right, but that it was imperative that all legal prerequisites be met in the construction program.

The Kentucky Derby dates from 1875, when a colt named Aristides, with Jockey O. Lewis up, won the first running at Churchill Downs. Since that first Derby, the blanket of roses has become the most coveted trophy in all of racing. On the first Saturday of each May, worldwide news coverage of the Derby flashes the name and fame of Kentucky around the globe.
